A Little About Me...

I have a heart for teaching young students and building relationships. Before I teach anything academic, I want all my students to know they are loved and welcome. This is my 9th year teaching. I am originally from the Columbia area and grew up in the Lexington/Richland 5 school district and graduated from Irmo High School. I attended the University of South Carolina (Go Gamecocks!) and majored in Early Childhood Education. After college, I moved to Charlotte, NC and began my teaching career in the Fort Mill School District. There I taught 3rd grade and 1st grade. The summer of 2015, I moved back home to Columbia. This will be my fifth year as a Ranger! My husband, Jordan, and I live downtown Columbia with our two dogs Huck and Miller..
