

I live in Lexington with my husband Jon of 17 years and my three children. I am a Brownie leader for my daughter's Girl Scout troop, a Sunday school teacher at Saxe Gotha Presbyterian Church, a member of Midway Elementary's SIC, and a member of Meadow Glen Middle's SIC. I enjoy spending time with my family, working in the yard, and serving others.

I have 19 years of educational experience. I began my career as a mathematics teacher and cheerleading coach at Northwestern High School in 1994. I moved to Palmetto High School in 1996 and to Lexington High School in 1997. I was promoted to assistant administrator in 2011 and have served as the district's secondary summer school director since 2008.

I received my bachelor's degree in secondary education-mathematics from Clemson University and my master's degree and certification in administrative leadership from the University of South Carolina.

I am a member of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, South Carolina Association of School Administrators, National Association of Secondary School Principals, the Palmetto State Teachers Association and Delta Kappa Gamma.

Credentials

H.S. Dillon High School, Dillon, SC 1990 B.A. Secondary Education-Mathematics, Clemson University, 1994 M.Ed. Secondary Education, University of South Carolina, 1999

Certifications: General Mathematics, Mathematics, Secondary Principal, Secondary Supervisor Other Training/Endorsements: Gifted and Talented Endorsed, Advanced Placement Statistics certified, SAFE-T Evaluator, ADEPT/TEAM Evaluator, CPI Trained