Reader Response Journal

Due Dates (Each due date will be exactly one week from the start of the semester.)

Fall Semester: Tuesday, August 27, 2019

Spring Semester: Tuesday, January 14, 2020

This assignment will count as a formative grade. No late work will be accepted (talk to your teacher BEFORE the due date if you have extenuating circumstances). In addition, this novel will be the basis of a summative assignment, which will take place within the first two weeks of class.

Create the journal:

1. Create a new document in Pages or Word in MLA format (1 inch margins, 12 point font, Times New Roman).
2. Name the document YourLastName_Summer Reading. Example: Smith_Summer Reading
3. Put an MLA heading at the top left of your document.
4. Insert a centered title at the top of the page.
5. Create a table with two columns.
6. At the top of the left column, write "Quote from the Text".
7. At the top of the right column, write "My Response".

Process: See the example below

Left column—Copy a quotation with page number directly from the text that you think is important in some way. It does not necessarily have to be in quotation marks in the text.

Right column—Respond to the quote you copied in the left column. You should describe why you think it is important. Do not summarize what the quote says. Line up the quote with its response, and number both sides.

Types of responses: Use each of these at least once.

- Examine how a specific character is introduced and developed throughout the text.
- Discuss how ideas and events are connected and developed throughout the text.
- Analyze something specific about the author's style—figurative and connotative meanings of words and phrases; the impact of word choice on meaning and tone; unique or unusual dialogue; fresh, engaging, beautiful language; shifting perspective; deleted scenes / time sequence shifts; effective use of stylistic or literary devices; use of symbolism or irony; or patterns or motifs.
- Compare the development of themes found throughout this text with their development in other texts you have read.
- Discuss how the order of events creates a particular effect for the reader
- Explain a question you have about ideas, events, characters, or a particular passage.
- Describe why you agree or disagree with an observation made by the narrator or a character's action.
- Examine how certain events or details give insight into a character's actions, thoughts, feelings, or motivations.
- Make a prediction and explain why you think this will happen.

How often to write:

Write at least 20 entries. Divide the number of pages in your book by 20, and that will tell you how many pages to read before each entry. For example, if your book has 200 pages, $200/20 = 10$, so you would write every 10 pages. Your entries should span the entire book, and represent the beginning, middle and end.

Example: There is an example journal on page 3 of this document. Please look at this example and use it as a guide for your journal.

Double Entry Journal on Their Eyes Were Watching God by Zora Neale Hurston

Quote from the Text	My Response
1. “The young girl was gone, but a handsome woman had taken her place. She tore off the kerchief from her head and let down her plentiful hair. The weight, the length, the glory was there” (87).	1. This is a symbolic moment for Janie. While Joe was alive, he never let her wear her hair down, which illustrated his power over her and the confined life she lead because of him. Now that he is gone, she is free. Letting her hair down is a symbol of this freedom.
2. “You better sense her intuh things then ‘cause Tea Cake can’t do nothin’ but help her spend whut she got. Ah reckon dat’s whut he’s after. Throwin’ away whut Joe Starks worked hard tuh git tuhgether” (111).	2. People think that Tea Cake is just after Janie’s inheritance from Joe. This shows how protective Janie’s friends are, as well as their suspicious nature. It helps develop the relationships among the characters.

*Your journal will have 20 entries that represent your entire novel. This is just a sample to show you the format and how to respond.
